BARGAINS IN CHILDREN'S COATS

There is no need of letting the little folks catch cold for the lack of a Warm Coat. This week inventory has disclosed one lot of Children's Coats, age 2 to 12 years, and the lot represents values up to $8.00. Your choice of any of the lot now $2.98.

THE BLANKET QUESTION IS ONE OF IMPORT-ANCE. HAVE YOU PLENTY OF WARM BLANKETS?

Some people never think of purchasing an article until just the minute they need it and the same may be applied to Blankets. Market conditions early buying o Blankets as wool and cotton are going up and no telling when they will stop.

This is a matter worthy of your consideration. If you have not all the Blankets needed for next winter, why not purchase a few extra pairs at the old price and save almost double what you would pay for the same Blanket next year.

BREAK IN WATER MAIN eaves Nearly Seventy-five Houses
Minus City Water Supply.

Between fifty and seventy-five houses are without city water as the result of a break in the 14-inch main between the pumping station and the city at the corner of Jackson and Ca-rey streets, Friday morning. For about an hour a large part of the

The break was first noticed at abou

The break was first noticed at about 11 o'clock. It was near a sewer manhole, and leaked into that. The sewer pipes were not large enough to take eare of the surplus water, and it flowed back into the houses along Jackson street, and many cellars were flooded, in several instances the water reaching a depth of three feet and putting out furnace fires.

Superintendent Moulton was notified and he want in search of the break. The length of pipe in which the leak was located was cut off by closing the valwes, so that all houses on the city gide of the valve at the corner of Jackson and Carey streets are supplied with the city water, drawing from the reservoir.

At 3 o'clock, the location of the break was probably discovered with the aid of a new invention, which received its first trial in this city Friday, and the men began digging for the rise.

ceived its first trial in this city Friday, and the men began digging for the pipe. It will probably take twenty hours of digging to reach the pipe, as the frost is about four feet deep.

The entire city is now being supplied by water from the raservoir, with a capacity of about 5,000,000 gallons a day, so there will probably be no water famine, unless a large fire should break out or the break is not repaired within a week. If there was a line of pipe from the corner of Jackson and and Ash streets, connecting the main from the pumping station with the pipes in the Lower Village, the water could be pumped through this system, but in the present system, all water must be pumped through this 14-inch main, some of the houses on the hill receiving the water directly from the station.

The door of the icebox was closed, when the men went out, and the next thing they noticed, the box was full of smoke and flame. The oil stove either exploded or tipped over, and set fire to one corner of the icebox. Two of the clerks threw the burning stove out the door of the stove and put the fire out with some water. The store was filled with smoke and put the fire out with some water. The store was filled with smoke. Fred Corlarty, who was near the store, rung in an alarm from Box 43, on Lincoln square. The engine company and the Hooks answered the slarm, the first named company reachalarm, the first named company reaching the fire within a few minutes after the alarm, but the blaze was out

The damage consists chiefly of moked meat. The meat can be used, but the smoky taste will be present. Mr. Vaughn said that he usually gets in his weekly supply of meat every Friday afternoon, but it arrived earlier than usual, Friday, and there were several whole animals and sheep in the icebox. The damage is covered by insurance.

Frank W. Martin Recovering From Index Record-Sale of Weeks Place.

A freight car containing cotten was destroyed by fire Friday. The boat freight or early morning freight had just arrived from Putnam and was on ten siding when smoke was seen coming through the cracks of the car. The engineer had the car switched on a side track on the Willimantic division away from other cars as the contents of the burning car were unknown. As soon as the conductor of the freight found the way bills, the contents of the car were made known, but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it. The car, containing seventy-five bales of raw cotton, was totally destroyed the less being estimated at about twenty-five thousand dollars. The cotton was consigned to a Taftville concern.

Many local people wondered why the engineer didn't switch the car under one of the water tanks, but other ntople, who were present when the fire was noticed, declare that the train crew showed good judgment in isolating the car until the contents were known.
